My stay in my host university was located in Uppsala, Sweden at the Swedish University of Agriculture Sciences (SLU). What I love the most about my stay was our living location, which was located in Flogsta. It has its unique spirit. The best way to travel in terms of cheaper expenses is by bicycle, which is a 30 min bike ride. You will get used to the biking situation. Biking is your main activity in Uppsala and it is the easiest way to get everywhere. I specialized in water resources, so I would recommend taking the Soil Biology course. I really enjoyed that course as well as the "Introduction to a masters thesis." This course really helps to prep for the writing and setting up process of your thesis. In terms of your visa, unless you know you are only staying for 6 months, I don't think its necessary for one; I never needed one. The campus and campus life is the most beautiful I have ever seen; however, this university is very complete in my opinion. If you do not set a goal and if you're not fully dedicated. Attending to this university will be certainly harder compared to any other I have attended. What I also found great about this university was that the teachers showed a great interest in one and they showed that they cared about you and your future. I have made great friends from this place and still am in contact with them. I also recommend that once your arrival to Uppsala, you sign up for a nation, which is a friendly environment to make friends.
